Originally from Argentina (with EU citizenship), I am looking for a first job that puts a vote of confidence in me in this new world. Being aware of this, I offer in return loyalty, adaptability, dedication, ability to adapt to the values and way of working of the company that sees my potential for growth. Likewise, I can bring a new vision and fresh ideas to the company, as an emigrant and woman. Finally, my background demonstrates my continuous training, my lack of fear when starting new paths, as well as my ability to be in charge of groups, work in teams and form communities.
